Strong Tower Christian School graduation was Friday night. Aracelli was our first and only kindergarten graduate this year, the rest of the students are 4 year olds who will Lord willing graduate next year. There was an excellent turnout, as we combine with the graduation ceremony, the assemblies Sunday School Christmas program. Over 60 adults attended, and more than 100 children and youth, it was a wonderful opportunity to share the gospel once again.

Saturday was the Christmas program at the state orphanage which went well as usual. After the program, the members of the ONDA team which faithfully work with those kids all year long, came over to the house for our annual dinner and gift exchange.

Today we are having the planning meeting for the 2008 school year. Please pray for wisdom as we seek the Lord's direction regarding the allotment of resources in the overall picture, a how best to minister to the community He has placed us in here.

Fresh news from Florida.....Bryan took to the ditch in order to avoid an oncoming vehicle trying to pass another on a two lane road, ended up rolling his pickup, but we thank our heavenly Father he walked away without a scratch. Chas will be headed down today from WA to spend Christmas in Florida with Carol's folks and Bryan. Aleks will sing "I'll be home for Christmas" from Bagdad.

I can't help but include this picture of my gorgeous granddaughter.....all you grandparents understand. ☺

By His grace,
